

The Women & Girls Index 2024: MEASURING GIVING TO WOMEN'S AND GIRLS' ORGANIZATIONS

The Women's Philanthropy Institute has released its sixth annual Women & Girls Index (WGI), the only comprehensive index measuring charitable giving to women's and girls' organizations in the United States. Adding 2021 giving data across 54,588 organizations, the WGI now spans a full decade, from 2012 to 2021, highlighting both gaps and growth in philanthropic support for women and girls.

Giving to women's and girls' organizations in 2021 exceeded $10 billion for the first time.

However, this still represents less than 2% of overall charitable giving.

Organizations focused on reproductive health and family planning received the most funding, a consistent trend over time.

Civil rights and advocacy organizations saw the largest growth in philanthropic support from 2020 to 2021.

Focused action is critical to accelerate growth past 2%, to ensure WGI organizations receive urgently-needed support.
